2009 season

Sunday, September 27, 4:30 pm

10-year-old Canadian piano prodigy Anastasia Rizikov performs a concert of varied works, including composers Bach, Mozart, Chopin, and Gershwin. Rizikov is the winner of numerous awards and has performed in such venues as the Kremlin in Moscow, and Carnegie Hall in New York City. Don't miss this young talent!

Sunday, October 25, 6:30 pm

Pipes Spooktacular returns! Join St. John's Minister of Music Julie Ford and special guests, including organist Stephen Warner, and Plymouth Canton Symphony's Celebration Flute Choir led by director Nan Washburn, for a performance of creepy carols and spooky songs. Concertgoers are encouraged to dress for the season!

Sunday, December 6, 4:30 pm

Join the members of the entire Music Ministry of St. John's for an afternoon of music for Advent. Music will be presented by all of the church's music ensembles along with special guest artists. Through scripture and song let us reflect on the mystery of Advent, and herald the coming of Christ.

Schubert Mass in G

Greetings from St. John's Episcopal Church! We hope you will join us for each of our events this season. Our lineup includes local and international artists, adults and youth, singers and instrumentalists.

We hope you will also consider supporting Resounding Art in a Sacred Space with a financial gift. Your generosity can ensure that this series will continue for many years to come!

Julie M. Ford, Minister of Music

2010 season

Sunday, February 21, 4:30 pm

Music from Northville High School, featuring the a capella groups BackBeat and TrebleMakers. Spend an afternoon with ensembles from one of the nation's most highly-acclaimed high school choral programs!

Sunday, May 16, 4:30 pm

Spend an afternoon with St. John's and Franz Schubert. The Mass in G is the best-known of Schubert's "shorter" mass settings. The Parish Choir of St. John's and special guests perform the Mass in G under the direction of Minister of Music Julie M. Ford.
